OVERVIEW

The Southern Caucasus is a region of breathtaking scenery dominated by magnificent mountains, sublime lakes and exquisite religious architecture. Treasures of Georgia, Armenia & Azerbaijan is a remarkable 22-day journey to this culturally diverse region where Europe and Asia meet in the lush green heart of the Caucasus.

Our tour begins in little-visited Azerbaijan, with a two-night stay in the extraordinary capital, Baku, located on the Caspian Sea. We then head to the ancient city of Sheki before crossing the border into the very heart of the Caucasus, Georgia, with its fabulous cuisine and culture, incredibly diverse landscapes, and exceptionally warm and friendly people. We enjoy a three-night stay in the sublime wine-growing region of Kakheti before heading west to the vibrant and exciting Georgian capital, Tbilisi – a maze of charming, winding streets, giving a flavour of old Persia. Next stop is the wonderful spa town of Borjomi, nestled in a picturesque valley within the Agura River gorge. Our final stop in Georgia is the extraordinary medieval cave city of Vardzia, carved into the sheer rock face of Mt Erusheti. Moving south we cross the border into Armenia – the Cradle of Christianity – and after an overnight stay in Gyumri, proceed to the beautiful forests and streams of Dilijan. After two nights here we visit 'The Pearl of Armenia' Lake Sevan, before arriving into the Armenian capital Yerevan, with its imposing views of Mt Ararat, where the ark landed as the flood waters receded. This is our base to explore the World Heritage-listed Geghard Monastery, and the important religious site of Echmiadzin – where Christianity was established in 301 A.D. Join us for a truly memorable journey to mountains, lakes and historical sites of Georgia, Armenia, and Azerbaijan!

Wine is an inherent part of Georgian culture and everyone here agrees that the best wines come from this fertile province which Alexander Dumas referred to as “the garden province of Kakheti”. As we pass alongside the beautiful Alazani valley, horse drawn carts amble through green pastures dotted with hayricks. Wine making in Kakheti stretches back some 7,000 years and 500 of the world’s 2000 grape varieties are found in Georgia. In 2006 Russia banned Georgian wine, forcing the country to find new markets for its products, and today Georgia exports its wines all over the world. But wines are not all that Kakheti has to offer: it is an area rich in history with many beautiful churches, castles and mansions, and warm and friendly people.

25/09/2025 Yerevan (BLD)

After breakfast we make the short journey to Echmiadzin, where in AD301 Grigor Lusavorich saw a beam of light fall to the earth in a divine vision. He built the Mother Church of Armenia on the site and today it is a place of unparalleled importance as the birthplace of Christianity. We then move on to Garni temple. Originally pagan and dating back to the 1st century, it became a summer house for Armenian royalty after Christian conversion. We then drive through a stunning canyon to reach the ancient monastery of Geghard. Surrounded by cave churches, Geghard was named after the lance that pierced Christ's side at the crucifixion. Indeed the spear itself was kept here for five centuries and is now housed at Echmiadzin. In the afternoon we enter the brandy factory of Ararat, home to what is reputedly the best cognac in the world. Churchill himself ranked this as his favourite brandy and Stalin used to send him 300 bottles of 20-year-old Ararat cognac every year.
